The Pacific States have a great deal more of good corn land than has been supposed. With proper cultivation most of the valley lands will produce quite a corn crop. If one-half of the trouble and expense were spent on this crop here that the farmers of the great West have to use, we should hear much less about this not being a good corn country. If the amount of teil and application of costly fertilizers which are needed to produce corn in New England were expended on California fields, the result would astonish the old settlers.

THE outgivings of the unbought Democratic press in various parts of the State reveal very plainly their fears that the San Jose Convention will be manipulated by the traders, purchasers and tricksters in the Democratic party. In which event they agree in the prediction that a third ticket will be put in the field, which will make Republican success doubly sure.

EXTENSIVE business is in expectancy upon the completion of the railroad to New Orleans soon. Arrangement are being perfected that will enable the road to handle a mammoth traffic, which it is sure to have. The Southern Pacific will, we prophesy, surpass in business the Central route within a

THERE is something forbidding funereal in the sound of the name Governor's chair. If he gravely ve tures on the race we predict that from and after the election he will be known as Mr. Hearst.

Perhaps there is no single public improvement of which the people of Los Angoles are at present in need as a passable street to reach that part of the city that lies to the cast of the Southern Pacific Railroad depot. There is virtually but one street now pen to that quarter, and as it is argely taken up with railroad track accommodations, and almost invaria-bly occupied by trains or locomotives it is not less dangerous for general

How a Clairvoyant Recovered her

Yesterday afternoon an excited individual rushed into the police station, and between gasps for breath, demanded Chief King calmly told the gentlema that he had none but policemen under his control. The man then said he that he had none but policemen under his control. The man then said he wanted one to come with him immediately to room 1, No. 127 Main street, and see the lady clairvoyant there, who had had some diamonds and money stolen from her by a woman who came in to get her fortune told. Chief King advised the man to go and get a warrant and then the arrest could be made legally, but the fellow insisted on a policeman going with him at once, the reason being that the clairvoyant would go into a trance and discover the name and whereabouts of the thief, and the police could quicken the arrest. Finally the chief accompanied the man, and by the time they arrived at the place, the the missing articles had been found in the room, having only been mislaid; and the clairvoyant's trance missed a good chance of doing the police some effective aid, and giving some evidence to doubting Thomases.

Our Southern Neighbors Repor Prosperity.

JUNE 16th, 1882. nder the sun, i. e., as far as Santa Ana eral months ago, is still rolling steadily vested, and from what the writer has latter is growing rapidly.

latter is growing rapidly.

Mr. R. Ross has a field of corn adjoining town, that has grown three feet in three weeks.

I hear some complaint of scarcity of laborers, especially upon ranches, and for want of lumber and brick many buildings are delayed. Griffith & Co.'s lumber yard is kept drained. They are expecting a large supply of lumber, hath, etc., soon, and until it arrives, many mechanics will be idle.

The Good Templars are preparing for an entertainment, but as their bills are not out yet, cannot give precise date. We haven't had a show here for nearly a week, and the thing is getting rather monotonous, don't know what the show people are about.

a week, and the thing is getting rather monotonus, don't know what the show people are about.

Well yes, perhaps I'm too fast, the glass blowers were here last week but they didn't attract much attention.

About the only thing we've het to make life endurable recently is the Holiness meeting. That has 'smell' with us,' at least the preachers have. We've had a regular deluge of Holiness. Literally it has been raining Holiness fire in a mild form for forty days and forty nights. And strange to say we are not all cleansed. A very few of us still have the "power" to sin and some even retain earnality enough to have the "inclination." I would not speak disparagingly of the men who conducted the meetings, but it does seem to me that almost any one of our local ministers, if he had protracted a meeting for six weeks, could have made as large a showing. Last night—the—meetings closed, and as a matter of course the preachers counted up results and counted anness. I think that twenty would cover the whole of converted, reclaimed and sanctified. Quite a small harvest cover the whole of converted, reclaime and sanctified. Quite a small harves of souls for six week's laborious reap or sous for six week's laborious reaping. Yet we do not wish to find fault, the blame, if there is any, may fall upon the people and not upon the preachers. Be that as it may the Holiness meetings are things of the past, and many of the young people of Santa Ana will be at a loss to know how to while away their genings till the part while away their evenings till the ner excitement comes along.

excitement comes along.

Some weeks ago we had a rousing "Temperance Mass-Meeting" in thi place. We were all wonderfully shaker up and exercised upon the Sunday lay question. One would think by the report of that meeting which came of the Times that after such enthusi and unanimous expression there given in favor of law that no man dare even attempt to violate the Sunday law. Yet attempt to violate the Sunday law. Yet our own observations compel us to arrive at the painful conclusion that a great amount of the fine speechmaking at said meeting was only "sweetness wasted on the desert air." We notice that the festive saloon keeper still pursues the even tenor of his way on Sunday as well as any other day, the church, the tomperance people and the law to the contrary notwithstanding. We simply ask why is this thus?
